Raymonds welcome daughter

Kay Raymond is a grandma again.

Kay's son Bob and daughter-in-law Dorothy have made the LaConner woman a grandmother for the fifth time.

Bob and Dorothy, who are residing here temporarily, welcomed the birth of a 7 lb., 4 oz. baby girl Tuesday, June 23, 1992, at Skagit Valley Hospital & Health Center.

The family's newest addition joins sisters Anna, who is almost three, and Genny, 18, a Kenyon (Ohio) College student visiting LaConner this summer.

Now all the happy family has to do is settle on a name for its newest member.

"We're still workin' on that," mom concedes.

But fear not. Bob and Dorothy are sure to pick something just right.

After all, Bob is a lawyer and both he and Dorothy have worked as government policy analysts. Plus dad is an accomplished mountain climber.

So the name game shouldn't pose too steep a challenge.

In the meantime, Bob's and Dorothy's new arrival is the talk of both coasts. Back east, she's pretty special to maternal grandpa John Downes of Syracuse, N.Y.

Here in LaConner, cousins Jay and Melissa Hess are sharing the joy with Bob, Dorothy, Kay and the kids.
