

DENTAL RECORD

University of Pennsylvania

Class of 1909

Vol. 6.

JOSEPH JAMES BARRETT.

Joseph James Barrett. "Baldy," "Pop," etc., are some of the pet names of our classmate. He was born at Syracuse, N. Y., on June 17, 1870. By this bit of history one can see that "Baldy" is one of the older members of the class, but if it were not for his scarcity of hair one would not believe it as he is just as lively as the youngest of us. After having an extensive business experience Joe decided that dentistry was his future so we found him with us in our freshman year.

For those who know him the slogan is "If you are in trouble go to 'Baldy' for advice and help."

He is a member of Xi, Psi Phi Fraternity and Truman Dental Society and a good fellow as well as workman and student. We deem him a friend and worthy of the best wishes of the class of '09.
